

Appendix 2 (to Item 5)

Possible witnesses and sources of evidence for the JHOSC on Stroke and Trauma

Stroke

- NHS London/Healthcare for London working group
- JPCT recommendations
- Clinical and management decisions
- London Health Observatory
- British Association of Stroke Physicians
- Regional London Stroke and Cardiac Network directors for each of the four London areas.
- Pilot Hospitals for Stroke Care
- London Ambulance and Air Ambulance (HEMs)
- Transport for London
- London Black Cabs
- The Stroke Association (UK charity concerned with combating stroke)
- Different Strokes (charity for young people who have suffered stroke)
- British Heart Foundation
- BME Healthcare Forum
- Age Concern
- Carers UK
- GP's (Londonwide LMC's)
- Specialists in aftercare; Physiotherapy, adult social care, speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, diet and exercise specialists. Royal College of Nurses.
- Accident and emergency department managers and consultants
- Government office for the third sector
- Therapy and aftercare
- Other UK centres of excellence

Trauma

- NHS London/Healthcare for London Working group on Major Trauma
- London Health Observatory
- Royal London Hospital (part of Bart's and London NHS Trust). This is a specialist trauma unit which has provided a model for the trauma proposals.
- A speaker able to give an International perspective (to be determined)
- London Severe Injuries Working Group – a group of professionals looking at management of major trauma across London.
- Royal College of Surgeons. This is a professional body overseeing surgeons and consultants who specialise in trauma and emergency medicine
- Accident and emergency department managers and consultants
- London Ambulance Service and Air Ambulance
- Transport for London
- Consultants for specialist areas including broken limbs; penetrative injuries; heart specialists; radiologists; anaesthetics; psychiatrists.

- The consultation document will not look at prevention or rehabilitation. Members might like to decide if they wish to consider these items in this JOSC.
- Therapy centres
- UK centres of excellence