1. Describe the issue under consideration

“To improve outcomes for the public, provide better value for money, and be more sustainable, health and social care services must work together to meet individuals’ needs. The Government will introduce a £3.8 billion pooled budget for health and social care services, shared between the NHS and local authorities, to deliver better outcomes and greater efficiencies through more integrated services for older and disabled people. The NHS will make available a further £200 million in 2014-15 to accelerate this transformation”.
